INTENSIVE RESTORATIVE INTERVENTION

A one-hour, adult-guided reset for 3rd and 4th graders. Students keep their learning, practice one skill, and leave with a plan to repair and return.

WHO Grades 3 and 4, grouped together LENGTH One hour RATIO About 5 students per adult

THE SKILL

ONE SKILL, PRACTICED EVERY SESSION

Every IRI hour teaches the same skill so students can carry it back to class. The skill lives in the moment between what happens and what a student does next.

PAUSE	CHOOSE	REPAIR
Notice what set me off and what my body is doing.	Pick a response from more than one option.	Take a real step toward the person or place affected.

WHAT IRI IS

- A structured hour with the student's own classwork
- Instruction in Pause, Choose, Repair
- Guided repair using the Repair Packet and Repair Menu
- A planned return to class, with an adult checking in

WHAT IRI IS NOT

- In-school suspension or a holding room
- Silent sitting as a consequence
- A verdict that the student is the problem
- A placement for talking or minor refusal

THE FRAMING

IMPACT AND IDENTITY, NOT SHAME

Students this age are increasingly tuned to what peers think of them. IRI does not ask students how others see them. It asks what their choice did to the people around them and who they want to be.

IMPACT

"What did that choice do to the people around you?"

IDENTITY

"What do you want to be true about you?"

OWNERSHIP

What someone else said still mattered. The choice after the reaction is the student's.

PLACEMENT

WHO IS PLACED, AND WHO DECIDES

The Deans assign every IRI placement. Teachers do not place students directly. Placement rules follow the same two-lane flowchart used for grades 6–8.

TRIGGER	LANE	PLACEMENT
Level 3 behavior (physical aggression, fighting, threats, throwing objects at people)	Both lanes	Immediate
Profanity directed at an adult	Both lanes	Immediate
Repeated Restorative Room visits in one day	Both lanes	Same day or next day, per the current flowchart count
Talking, minor refusal, seat-change disputes	Not IRI	Teacher-managed or Restorative Room

GUARDRAIL

IRI is reserved for serious and repeat behavior. Many 3rd and 4th grade Restorative Room entries this fall describe Level 1 talking and refusal after redirects. Those stay with the teacher and the Restorative Room, so the IRI hour keeps its purpose.

THE TWO LANES

Tier 1: the 3rd time sent out in one day, or the 5th in one week, leads to IRI. Tier 2 and 3 (DBRC students): the 2nd time sent out in one day brings a Dean review, so the highest-needs students receive supportive intervention sooner.

THE HOUR

SIX SEGMENTS, EVERY SESSION

The order never changes, so students always know what comes next. Work runs in short stretches with an adult beside the group. Quiet is used briefly; long silent sitting is not part of the design.

ROLES

WHO DOES WHAT

ROLE	RESPONSIBILITIES
Deans	Assign placements, confirm the trigger and lane, notify the facilitator and family.
IRI facilitator	Runs the hour, guides each repair, writes the student perspective note, completes the session log, and starts re-entry with the Plan for Tomorrow sheet.
Classroom teacher	Sends work by end of day for next-day placement. Reads the student perspective note and takes their part in the repair conversation.
Restorative team	Collects same-day work from the classroom and supports re-entry when the facilitator is unavailable.
Culture leadership	Reviews IRI patterns in the after-school culture coaching clinics and the MTSS student review.

THE SYSTEM

FROM PLACEMENT TO DATA REVIEW

Each step hands off to the next. The hour itself is step two; the return and the review are where the learning holds.

STUDENT VOICE

HEARD FIRST, THEN ACCOUNTABLE

THE STUDENT PERSPECTIVE NOTE

The facilitator summarizes the student's account of what happened in a short, neutral note to the teacher. The raw packet is not forwarded. The note shares what the student experienced; it is not a finding about the adult.

THE ADULT'S PART

Before the student returns, the teacher decides whether anything from the adult side is worth naming. A short statement, such as "I could have said that privately," shows students that repair runs both ways.

RE-ENTRY AND DATA

WHERE THE SKILL GETS TESTED

RE-ENTRY

- The student returns with the plan named in the share-out.
- The repair step happens the same day or the next morning.
- A trusted adult holds the morning check-in on the Plan for Tomorrow sheet.
- A returning student moves up a level and never repeats the same session.

DATA

- The session log feeds the after-school culture coaching clinics and the MTSS student review.
- Clinic topics come from patterns; attendance is informed by data, not assigned.
- Patterns are discussed in groups. Individual adults come up only in 1:1 coaching.

EVERY STUDENT GETS A WAY BACK.
